The Power of a Great Tabla Teacher

What makes a tabla school truly exceptional is not just its facilities or curriculum—it's the guru. At Tabla Nawaz Academy, students have the rare opportunity to learn under the expert guidance of श्री भगवान सिंह, a respected name in the world of Indian percussion.

🎓 About श्री भगवान सिंह

- International tabla teacher with decades of experience
- Trained in traditional Benares Gharana and other styles
- Has taught in India, the UK, the US, and the Middle East
- Known for blending traditional training with modern teaching methods

His teaching philosophy is rooted in the Guru-Shishya Parampara, where the bond between student and teacher goes beyond the classroom—building discipline, musicality, and character.

The Instruments of Expression: Tabla Basics

At the academy, you'll become intimately familiar with the two drums that make up the tabla set:

- Dayan (Right Drum): Made of sheesham or teak wood, tuned to the tonic (sa).
- Bayan (Left Drum): Usually made of metal or clay; produces bass tones with sliding pitch control.

You'll also learn about the black spot (syahi), tuning techniques, and hand positioning to produce signature sounds like Dha, Tin, Na, and Ke.

---

Signature Taals You'll Master

Some of the most important taals you'll study include:

- Teentaal (16 beats): The most common and versatile taal.
- Ektaal (12 beats): Known for its graceful structure.
- Jhaptaal (10 beats): Complex and favored in semi-classical music.
- Rupak Taal (7 beats): Used in devotional and film music.

Students get hands-on practice using clapping patterns, reciting bols, and playing on tabla to fully internalize these rhythmic cycles.
